Song: Two in a Boat
Music: Czech Musician Composer Stanislav Stejskal Lyrics: Venezuelan Poet Marlene Morales Sueke

The Immenseness of tumultuous Sea is their home now They travel in the steady hands of the Stormy Guardian

Purple woman and her re-woven heart trembling not for coldness of the rain
but for the fear of fall in love again
with the silent sweetness living on a hiding place
in this wet
sweaty strong sailor

He sings so gentle to amuse her so she is forgetting the hurricane that is following them

heia heia heai hei hei

The sea man with his heart shared out
among the women
that wait for him
so far away or close to him between lights and shadows

heia heia heai hei hei

Persuaded not of her love but of his desire to immerse in her Mysteries together fish the Kindness Word jumping out of boat to the Other World

heia heia heai hei hei

From Shanty
Serenade Strong Rain
close raise together in the whirlwind and the mist that have come to gather them together

. . . The Immenseness of tumultuous Sea.
..

Rain and Thunder
rock them Resplendence. . . Wera Kwarai stays quiet in their eyes music flying notes

They travel
Milky Way
South Cross Wind
Pleyades
Celestial profoundness
